Head cover

Works as protection for the connectors and buddy display when diving in overhead environments. The cover absorbs impact of the apparatus hitting the top of a cave or a part of a shipwreck, without any damage occurring to the head of the apparatus. The inner side of the cover is made from mirror polished metal plate, which reflects some of the light coming from the buddy display to the back, thus making it better visible during the cave-like swimming in a row.

(#8097)

Travel head cover

Cover for the bottom part of the head, which protects the apparatus inside the head during transport in a car or carry-on luggage. (#8111)

Straight hose nipples for the Liberty head

Not used in the standard CCR Liberty arrangement, but can be used when rebuilding it to the side-mount rebreather.
